

Sprint 3 Burndown Chart Analysis

This is the generated burndown chart for Sprint 3. Although we started our sprint on March 9, we kept adding stories until March 13. This means we plan to finish 21 story points worth of tasks during this sprint.

Since our sprint period is roughly the same as the previous two sprints, our velocity this sprint is much higher than the previous sprints (we had 11 points per sprint for the past two sprints). The reason our velocity has increased so much is because our team has become very comfortable with the tools that we are using. Thus, we are now able to take on more complex and time-consuming user stories.